Domestic and Sexual Violence in Utah 2010

Domestic and sexual violence are two of the most serious violent crimes in Utah. Countless victims and survivors of domestic and sexual violence are enduring life threatening situations and suffer impacts which seriously reduce their quality of life. Domestic violence and rape and sexual assault affect all races, ethnic groups, educational levels, social and economic classes, religions, gender and physical and intellectual abilities. For many people, these crimes are hidden and rarely discussed in public. Many individuals will not recognize this violence as a public health issue that significantly impacts communities, families, and individuals. It is not mentioned in our conversations and that silence contributes to the continuation of domestic and sexual violence.

Domestic violence is characterized as a systematic pattern of physical, sexual, verbal, emotional, and psychological abuse, which is predominantly directed by men against women. This pattern of abuse may also include financial and spiritual abuse and threats of violence. Rather than a series of independent acts or events, it is most often part of a process in which the perpetrator maintains control and domination over the victim with whom he/she has a cohabitant or intimate relationship.

Sexual violence is characterized as any time a person is forced, coerced, and/or manipulated into any attempted or completed unwanted sexual contact. Victims of sexual violence can experience physical and psychological health issues. Physical injuries can include bruises, broken bones, chronic pelvic pain, and/or back pain. Sexual violence can not only result in transmission of sexual infection, and/or unwanted pregnancy, it can also result in emotional harm. A victim of sexual violence may develop Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, or experience depression, guilt, anxiety, embarrassment, flashbacks, fear or emotional detachment that can continue long after the assault.

The authors of this report are confident the information contained herein will further organize and revitalize the collaborative effort to end domestic and sexual violence in Utah. This report was made possible by the data provided by the following agencies:

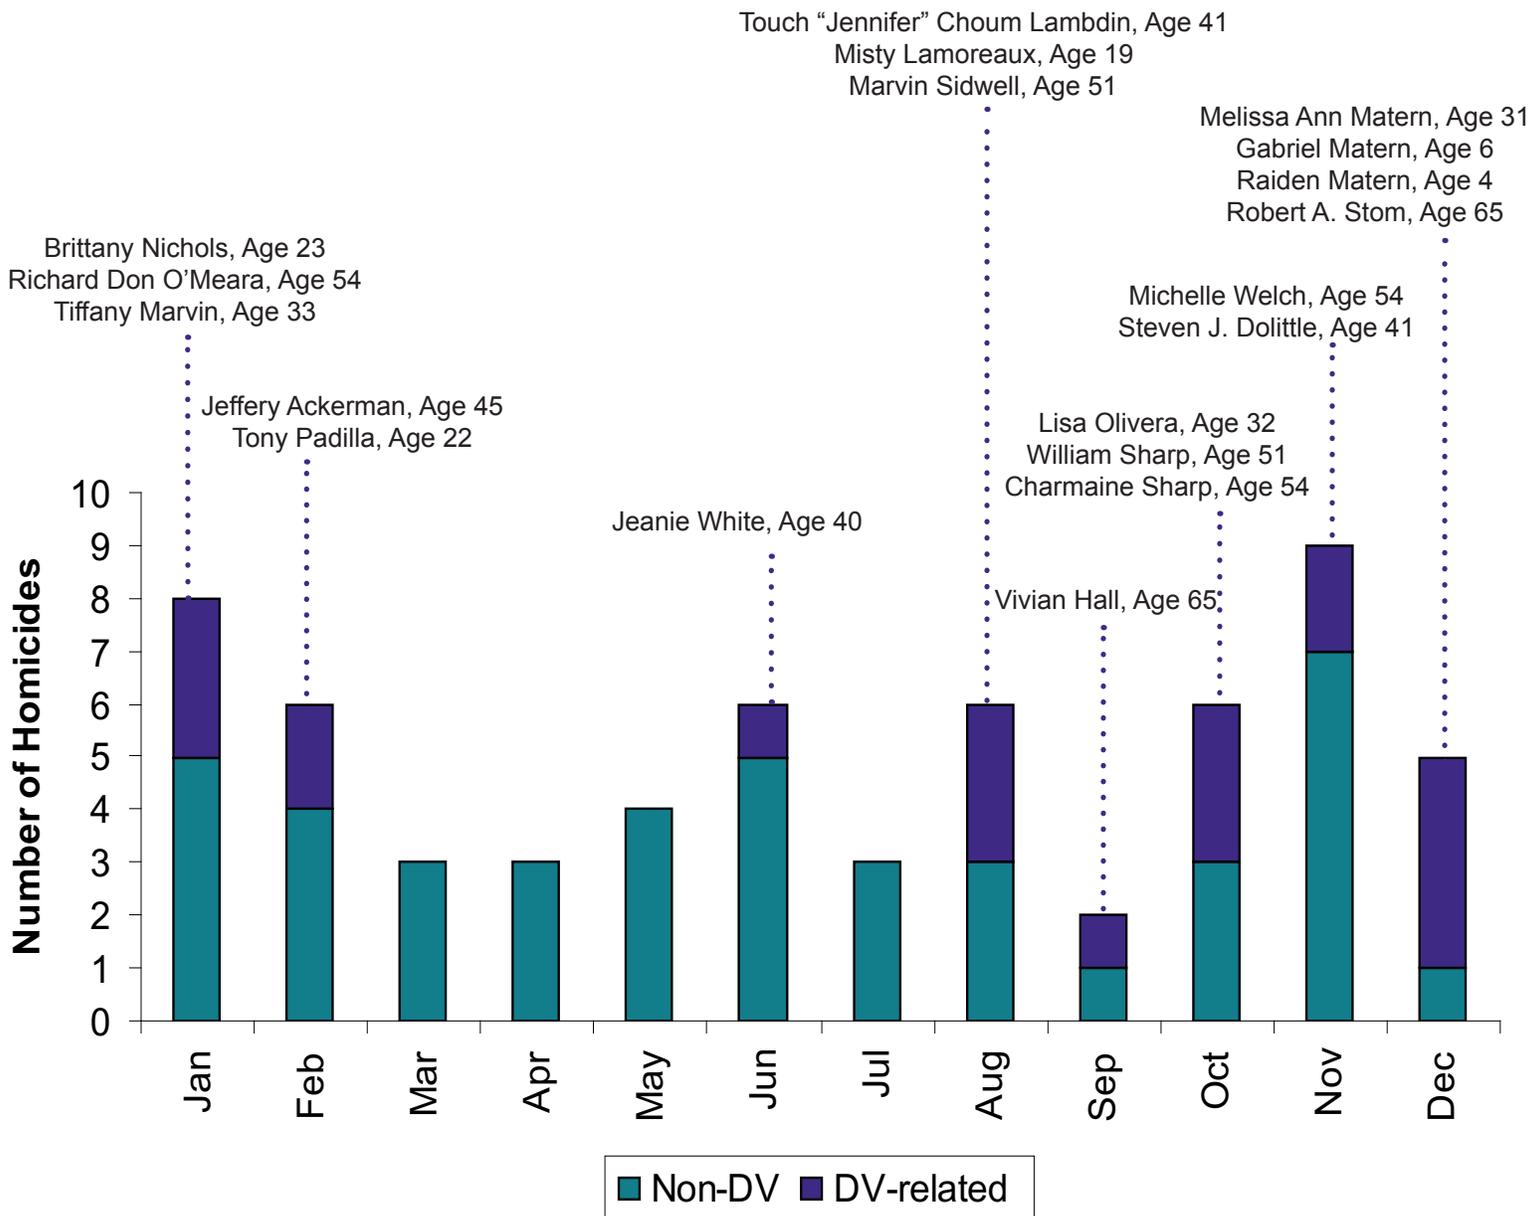

Administrative Office of the Courts
Utah Coalition Against Sexual Assault
Utah Commission on Criminal and Juvenile Justice
Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program
Utah Department of Human Services, Division of Child and Family Services
Utah Department of Public Safety, Bureau of Criminal Identification
Utah Domestic Violence Council
Utah Office of Crime Victim Reparations

Remember Me 2009

The Utah Domestic Violence Council compiles information on domestic violence related deaths from public sources statewide. To be listed, case specific information must demonstrate a correlation between domestic violence and the death of the victim as demonstrated by corroborating public information. From public information available, domestic violence is observed between 1) cohabitants, 2) persons in dating relationships, and 3) family members not defined within the cohabitant statute.

Number of Homicides by Month and Type, Utah 2009

Executive Summary

Utah Department of Human Services, Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS)

- More than 3,400 men, women, and children entered shelters in FY '09 to escape domestic violence (Figure 1).
- Since last year, there has been an 8% increase in the numbers of days individuals spend in shelters (Figure 2).
- Of the total number of Child Protective Services (CPS) cases that include an allegation of domestic violence in the presence of a child, 60% are substantiated/supported cases (Figure 4).
- Of the substantiated/supported CPS cases, domestic violence is the most supported allegation at 31% and sexual violence is the second most supported allegation at 25% (Figure 5).

Utah Department of Public Safety, Bureau of Criminal Identification

- The total offenses committed by family members increased 37% from 2001 to 2009 (Figure 6).
- Of these offenses, 21% were committed by a spouse or common-law spouse and 30% were committed by a boyfriend or girlfriend (Table 1).
- In domestic violence incidents where a weapon was used, 94% of the weapons were personal weapons, which would include hands or feet (Table 3).
- The crude rate of rapes has decreased significantly (adjusted for population) from 2000 (74 per 100,000 females) to 2009 (61 per 100,000 females) (Figure 7).

Utah Administrative Office of the Court

- Civil cohabitant abuse case filings, the number of protective orders issued, and the number of temporary protective orders issued has decreased since 2000 (Figures 9, 11, 12).
- Criminal stalking judgments have increased since 2000 (Figure 14).

Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program

- Since 2000, domestic violence-related homicides accounted for 40% of all adult homicides in Utah (Figure 16).
- There were no significant differences in domestic violence-related homicides from 2000-2009 (Figure 17).
- Males had a significantly higher domestic violence-related suicide rate at 4.1 per 100,000 adults than females at 0.6 per 100,000 adults (Figure 18).
- More than 31,000 people were reached through the Rape Prevention and Education grant program between November 2008 and October 2009 (Table 9).

Utah Commission of Criminal and Juvenile Justice

- The 2007 Rape in Utah Survey found that nearly 1 in 3 women report experiencing some type of sexual assault during their lifetimes, but less than 12% of these crimes are reported to the police (Table 10).
- Most sexual assaults were committed by male perpetrators who were known to the victim (Figure 26).

Utah Department of Human Services Division of Child and Family Services

Utah is one of only five states in the nation where domestic violence in the presence of a child is considered child abuse. This clarification recognizes the damage that can occur when children are exposed to family and domestic violence.

The Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS) is an agency under the State of Utah Department of Human Services. DCFS serves children and families impacted by domestic violence through Child Protective Services (CPS) assessments. DCFS enjoys a cooperative relationship with shelters and treatment providers.

DCFS is responsible for the distribution of Federal and State resources to Domestic Violence Shelters. DCFS also provides direct intervention to families experiencing challenges associated with allegations of domestic violence as well as support to children and families related to allegations of sexual abuse. Each of these areas will be addressed in this section. The data included in the section are reported as statewide totals for fiscal year 2009 (FY 2009), July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2009.

Domestic Violence Shelters

Fifteen shelters located in each county statewide contract with DCFS to provide services to victims of domestic violence. (Refer to the reference at the end of this report for location information).

Clients may stay in a shelter for multiple types of abuse including; threats of violence, verbal abuse, psychological and physical violence. Shelters provide some or all of the following services to men, women and children: casework, safety planning, group counseling and support groups, community resource education, referrals for employment, mental health, health care and legal services, perpetrator treatment referrals, and assistance in acquiring protective orders. During FY 2009, shelters accepted 31,548 calls and turned away 2,658 clients.

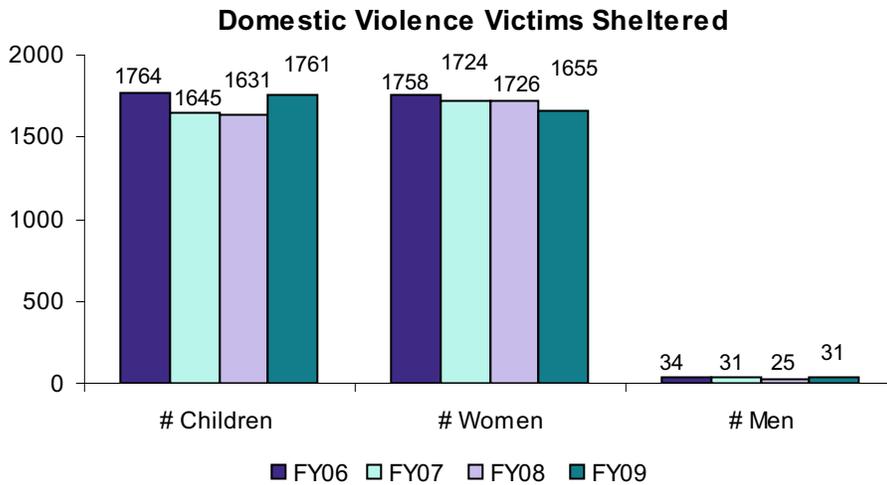

There are a variety of ways a family may be referred to shelter services. They may access shelters directly via community services, as a result of a crisis call, from law enforcement or medical staff. These children and families may also be referred to a shelter because of a Child Protective Services (CPS) investigation.

Shelters report data to DCFS via an online reporting system. Due to federal restrictions, the data is re-identified and therefore duplicated. In other words, if a client enters the same shelter more than once during the time period specified they will be counted once for each shelter episode. Consequently, these numbers may differ from unduplicated counts of clients reported by the shelters.

Utah Department of Human Services, Division of Child and Family Services

The data in Figure 1 represent domestic violence victims (men, women and children) who entered a domestic violence shelter and whose shelter episode closed during FY 2009. The number of children has increased slightly. While the number of men has stayed about the same over the three-year period, the number of women has experienced a slight decline. Children usually enter the shelter with their adult parent who is identified as the primary client. Last year 50% of the episodes include one or more children.

data source: Division of Child and Family Services

The data in Figure 2 below represents the total number of days clients (men, women and children) stayed in one of the 15 shelters statewide during the fiscal year. The number of days are calculated using the start and end dates of each shelter episode for each person.

data source: Division of Child and Family Services

Child Protective Services Investigations

The Child Protective Services (CPS) responds to calls from the community concerning potential abuse, neglect, or dependency of children. CPS workers use the Safety-Decision Making Model to evaluate safety and need. The model directs workers to evaluate (1) threats of harm, which are specific and observable conditions in the child's environment. (2) child vulnerability and (3) protective capacities. Based on the information gathered as part of the assessment, a determination is made whether or not additional intervention is required to create safety. Interventions may include CPS workers providing educational information, referring to community services or resources, direct referral to treatment, DCFS in-home services or, if the child cannot be maintained safely in the home, placement into protective custody. Figure 3 illustrates the way CPS may become involved with a family.

Child Protective Services Investigations

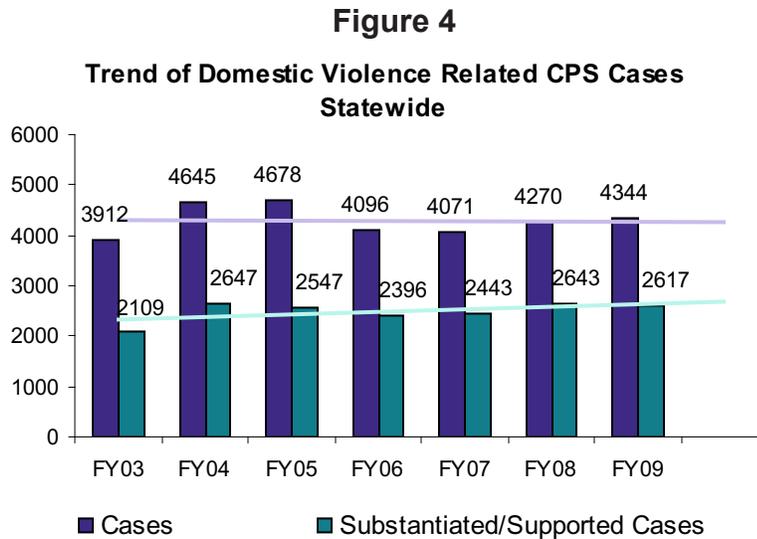

Domestic Violence Related Child Abuse Allegations

Utah recognizes domestic violence in the presence of a child as child abuse. When a domestic violence situation occurs where a child is present, law enforcement is required to contact CPS and report an allegation of domestic violence. Calls may come from the community as well. An allegation may be supported when it meets requirements under the law that the abuse has taken place. In cases where domestic violence is an issue but not enough to open an investigation, DCFS may provide referrals to community resources.

Domestic violence related child abuse is the most frequently supported allegation. One case may have more than one supported allegation, including more than one allegation type, victim or perpetrator; therefore, the percentages in the Figure 4 add up to more than 100%. For definitions of allegations see the definitions section of DCFS Practice Guidelines at <http://www.hspolicy.utah.gov/dcf/>.

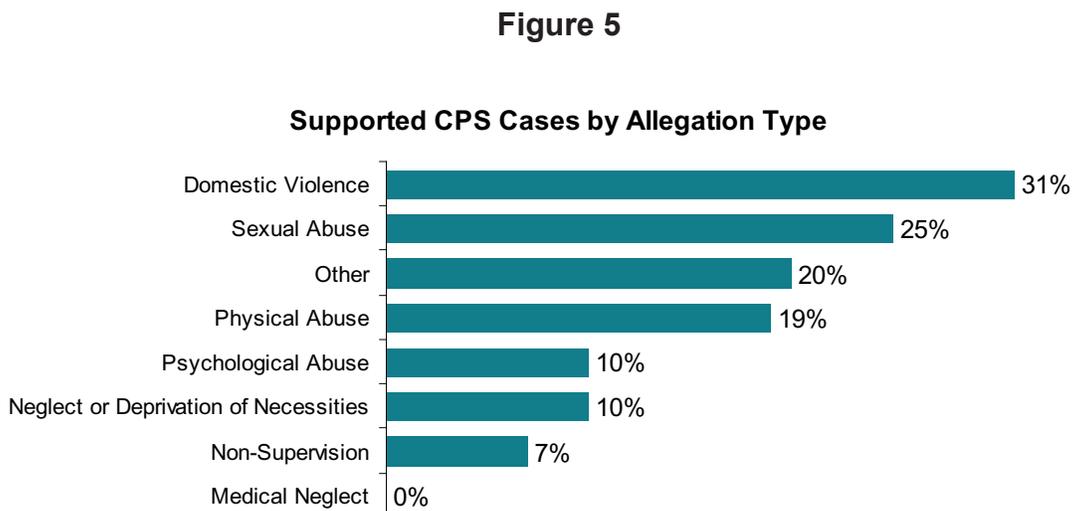

Utah Department of Human Services, Division of Child and Family Services

Figure 4 shows the number of CPS cases that include an allegation of domestic violence in the presence of a child. Approximately 31% of all supported CPS investigations include incidents of domestic violence.

Sexual Abuse Allegations

Sexual abuse is the second most supported allegation. 25% of the supported cases in FY 2009 included an allegation of sexual abuse. Figure 5 illustrates the percentage of allegations by type for FY 2009. Additionally, caseworkers reported 28% of the supported abuse and neglect cases had alcohol or drug abuse as a contributing factor.

"The Other allegation category includes allegations of safe relinquishment of a new born child, child endangerment, dependency, and failure to protect."

Utah Department of Public Safety Bureau of Criminal Identification

The Bureau of Criminal Identification (BCI) is mandated to collect and publish crime statistics. BCI publishes an annual report that contains data collected from law enforcement agencies. The data is reported to BCI in two formats, summary and incident based reporting (IBR). The summary data only represents the most serious offense reported in an incident, while IBR will represent all the offense reported in an incident. Because IBR collects details about the offenses, victims, offenders, property and arrests involved in each crime incident, it is possible to analyze various aspects of the crime occurring in our society.

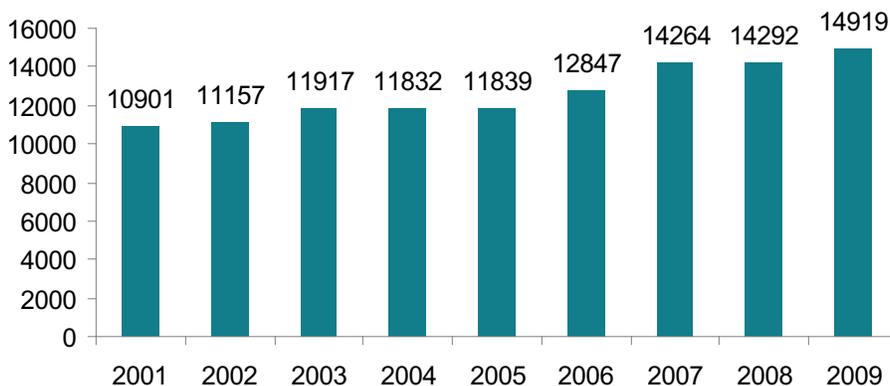

Not all law enforcement agencies in Utah report using the IBR format, therefore statistics based on IBR do not represent the entire population of Utah. Out of 142 total law enforcement agencies, 64 agencies submitted IBR data and 21 agencies did not submit data either to the summary or IBR programs. These data are compiled from the 2009 Preliminary Report and the data may change when the final report is published.

Incident-Based Reporting Domestic Violence Analysis

Domestic Violence is not a specific offense in IBR reporting. Data is compiled by using the offense and the relationship between the victim and offender. The chart below shows the total number of incidents reported by IBR agencies in Utah committed by family members by year.

Figure 6

Total Offenses Committed by Family Members
2001 through 2008

Utah Department of Public Safety, Bureau of Criminal Identification

Table 1 lists offenses reported by IBR agencies in 2009 by the type of victim, where a family or intimate relationship was indicated. The most common relationship reported is boyfriend or girlfriend (30%), followed by spouse (20%). If common-law spouses, ex-spouses, and homosexual relationships are added, intimate partners accounted for over half (55%) of the total offenses involving family members.

IBR data also provide information on the types of injuries suffered by victims of domestic violence during the offenses listed in below in Table 1. Table 2 provides data on injuries suffered during these incidents. Multiple injuries could be recorded for a single incident if multiple injuries occurred. The most likely outcome of these offenses was no injury (58%), followed by apparent minor injuries (40%).

Finally, IBR data can be used to analyze the types of weapons that are used in domestic violence incidents. The following table includes information on only those incidents where a weapon was used. Multiple weapons could be reported if more than one weapon was used. Personal weapons, which would include hands or feet, were the most commonly reported (94%).

Uniform Crime Reporting Rape Analysis

Data on the offense of rape are collected through the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) system established by the FBI. When using these data, it is important to remember that these summary data only list the most serious offense in a crime incident. Also, according to the FBI's definition of rape, the only offenses included are those where the victim is female. Forcible rape, as defined by UCR, is the carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Assaults and attempts to commit rape by force or threat of force are also included; however, statutory rape (without force) and other sex offenses are excluded. These data are compiled from the 2009 Preliminary Report which may change when the final report is published. A total of 847 rapes were reported to Utah police agencies in 2009.

Utah Administrative Office of the Court

The Administrative Office of the Courts provides administrative services to Utah’s Court system, including the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, and the District Courts. Data used in this section of the report have been provided by the AOC for the District Courts. The District Courts are divided into 8 geographical regions.

Civil Co-Habitant Abuse Case Filings

Co-habitant abuse case filings are a civil case type where a petition for protective order is filed. The parties must have lived together as husband and wife, boyfriend/girlfriend, or they have a child in common. Figure 12 shows that the number of civil co-habitant abuse cases filed each year has decreased since 2002.

Civil Cohabitant Abuse Case Filings by Year

Civil co-habitant abuse case filings in 2009 are shown by court district in Figure 13. 3rd District, which includes Salt Lake Co., accounts for 40% of these cases.

Protective Orders

A protective order is designed to provide protection under the law for those affected by domestic violence. Protective orders prohibit the respondent from contacting, threatening, or entering onto the property of the petitioner and protected parties. A temporary protective order can be issued the day it is requested, without the respondent being present. These orders are also referred to as ex-parte protective orders. Temporary protective orders are enforceable from the time a respondent is provided a copy, until the hearing on the permanent protective order is held. The respondent is provided a copy of the temporary protective order by law enforcement, indicating the hearing date where both parties will be heard by the judge.

After a court hearing, the court can issue a protective order, which includes enforceable criminal provisions that protect the victim for two years. Conditions of the orders are specified in Utah code, Title 78B, Chapter 7 Protective Orders. The number of orders issued by the courts have decreased since 2000 (Figures 11 and 12).

In calendar year 2009, 4,295 temporary protective orders and 1,992 protective orders were issued. Figure 13v and Table 5 show the number of orders issued in 2009 by court district. The largest number of orders were issued by 3rd District Court which includes Salt Lake Co..

Criminal Stalking

Stalking is generally described as a pattern or course of conduct directed at or towards a specific person that causes a person to fear for that person’s safety, the safety of another, or causes either person to suffer emotional distress.

Figure 17 shows the number of criminal stalking cases filed by year since 2000. In calendar year 2009, 168 criminal stalking cases were filed in Utah’s courts; this was 73 more than in 2000. (See Figure 18 and Table 6.)

Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program

The Violence and Injury Prevention Program (VIPP) collaborates with many partners to:

1. Reduce motor vehicle-related injuries and fatalities in Utah,
2. Reduce community and family violence in Utah, and
3. Collect, assess, and distribute data on the impact of violence and injury of Utahns.

Domestic Violence Fatality Review and Utah Violent Death Reporting System

The Utah Violent Death Reporting System (UTVDRS) is an incident-based system that collects detailed information from death certificates, medical examiner records, police reports, crime lab records, and supplemental homicide reports on all violent deaths in Utah. Homicides, suicides, deaths of undetermined intent, unintentional firearm-related deaths, and deaths due to legal intervention are all considered violent deaths for the purpose of the data collection.

An intimate partner violence module is included in UTVDRS to collect data specific to cases reviewed by the Domestic Violence Fatality Review Committee (DVFRC). The DVFRC has been in existence for more than eight years and recently finished reviewing 2008 cases. The DVFRC meets monthly from January through June to provide a comprehensive review of domestic violence-related homicides and develop recommendations for future prevention efforts. The following are the DVFRC's domestic violence-related homicide and suicide definitions:

Domestic Violence-related Homicide

1. The victim is 18 years or older at the time of death;
2. The manner of death is designated as a homicide by the Office of the Medical Examiner or a suspect is charged with criminal homicide by law enforcement; and
3. The relationship of the victim and suspect can include:
 - a. Current or former intimate partner;
 - b. Cohabitants (roommates); or
 - c. Family members (including in-laws, stepparents, stepchildren, stepsiblings, current or former intimate partner family members, and foster parents or children).

Domestic Violence-related Suicide

1. The victim is 18 years or older at the time of death;
2. The manner of death is designated as a suicide by the Office of the Medical Examiner;
3. The incident includes violence or the threat of violence between:
 - a. Current or former intimate partners;
 - b. Cohabitants (roommates); or
 - c. Family members (including in-laws, stepparents, stepchildren, stepsiblings, current or former intimate partner family members, and foster parents or children); and
4. The incident includes one of the following circumstances:
 - a. Intimate partner problem;
 - b. Other relationship problem;
 - c. Perpetrator of interpersonal violence in the past month; or
 - d. Victim of interpersonal violence in the past month.

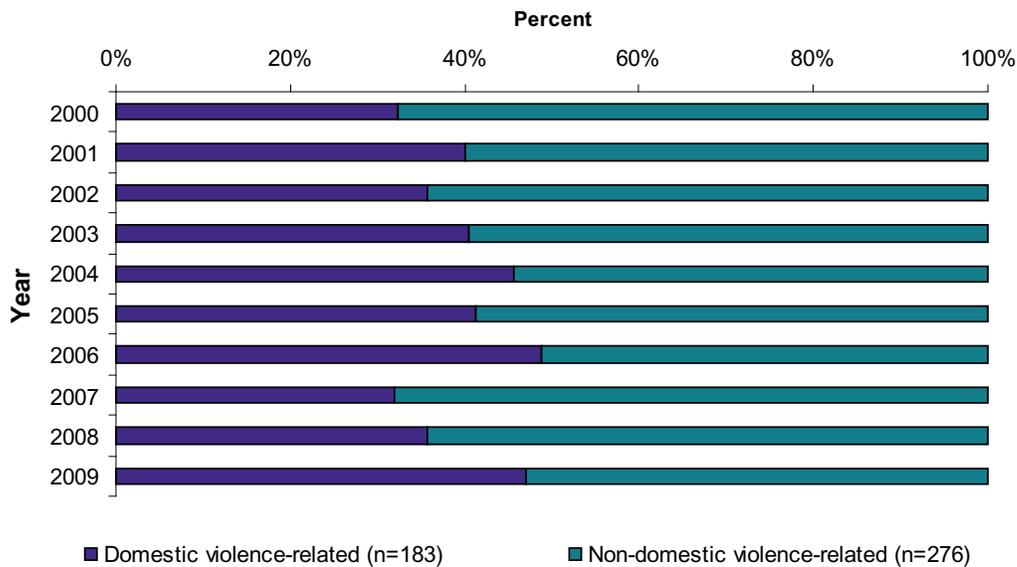

Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program

The data in Figure 16 represent the percentage of adult domestic violence-related homicides among all adult homicides. Since 2000, domestic violence-related homicides accounted for approximately 39.9% of adult homicides.

Percentage of domestic violence-related and non-domestic violence-related adult homicides, Utah, 2000-2009, n=459

The data in Figure 17 represent the Utah domestic violence-related homicide rate per 100,000 persons 18 years and older from 2000-2009 according to the DVFRC definition. During this ten-year period, there were a total of 183 domestic violence-related homicides for an average of 18 deaths per year. Domestic violence-related homicides peaked in 2001 with a rate of 1.7 per 100,000 adults; however, there were no significant differences in domestic violence-related homicides from 2000 to 2009.

Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program

There have been 242 domestic violence-related fatalities (homicides and suicides) captured in the Utah Violent Death Reporting System since 2005. Table 7 shows the number of domestic violence-related adult fatalities each year.

Table 7

Domestic Violence-related Fatalities, Utah Adults, 2005-2008
Year	Homicides	Suicides	Total
2005	21	44	65
2006	19	46	65
2007	15	38	53
2008	15	44	59
Total	70	172	242

The data in Figure 18 represent the Utah domestic violence-related suicide rate per 100,000 persons 18 years and older by sex from 2005 to 2008. During this four-year period, there were a total of 172 domestic violence-related suicides for an average of 43 deaths per year (2.3 per 100,000 adults). Males had a significantly higher domestic violence-related suicide rate at 4.1 per 100,000 adults than females at 0.6 per 100,000 adults.

The data in Figure 19 represent the domestic violence-related suicide rate by age group from 2005 to 2008. When compared to the state rate of 2.3 per 100,000 adults, persons 65 years and older had a statistically lower rate at 0.8 per 100,000 adults. There were no significant differences in the other age groups.

Utah Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System

The Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) tracks health conditions and risk behaviors in the United States. The Utah BRFSS is conducted by the Office of Public Health Assessment at the Utah Department of Health. In 2008, questions regarding Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) were asked of females 18 years and older. An intimate partner included any current or former spouse, boyfriend, or girlfriend. Anyone the interviewee was dating, or romantically or sexually intimate with was also considered an intimate partner.

Overall, 14.2% of females reported experiencing IPV in their lifetime. The data in Figure 20 show the percentage of adult females by age group who reported that an intimate partner had ever hit, slapped, pushed, kicked, or hurt them in any way. Females 45-54 years of age (19.2%) and 55-64 years of age (22.2%) had a statistically higher reported lifetime prevalence of IPV compared to the state prevalence of IPV of 14.2%. Females 65 years and older had a statistically lower reported lifetime prevalence of IPV compared to the state prevalence of IPV (8.3% and 14.2%, respectively).

Of the females who reported IPV, 7.8% indicated that they had experienced IPV in the past 12 months. Of these females, 38.5%* reported that they had sustained physical injuries such as bruises, cuts, scrapes, a black eye, or broken bone as a result of the physical violence. Of the perpetrators, 39.1% were husbands or a male live-in partner, 27.2% were former husbands or former live-in partners, and 25.7% were former boyfriends.

Utah Department of Health, Violence and Injury Prevention Program

Utah Youth Risk Behavioral Surveillance System

The Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System (YRBSS) monitors priority health risk behaviors that contribute to the leading causes of death, disability, and social problems among youth and adults in the United States. The Utah YRBSS is conducted every two years and provides data representative of 9th through 12th grade students in public schools throughout Utah.

Data in Figure 21 show the percentage of students who reported they were hit, slapped, or physically hurt on purpose by their boyfriend or girlfriend during the 12 months before the survey compared to the U.S. There are no significant differences in percentages between Utah and the U.S. from 1999 to 2009.

Data in Figure 22 compare the percentage of students who experienced IPV by sex from 1999 to 2009. There were no significant differences of reported IPV by males and females. In 2007, Utah high school students reported the highest prevalence of experiencing violence from a boyfriend or girlfriend since 1999 at 12.6%. The lowest prevalence was in 2003 at 7.9%.

Data in Figure 23 show the percentage of students who had ever been physically forced to have sexual intercourse when they did not want to during the 12 months before the survey compared to the U.S. There are no significant differences in percentages between Utah and the U.S. from 1999 to 2009.

Data in Figure 24 compare the percentage of male and female students who experienced forced sexual intercourse from 1999 to 2009. There were no significant differences of reported forced sexual intercourse by male and female students. In 2007, Utah high school female students reported the highest prevalence of experiencing forced sexual intercourse at 14.2%. The lowest prevalence was in 2005 at 8.1%.

Rape Prevention and Education

The Violence and Injury Prevention Program (VIPP) receives Rape Prevention and Education federal funds for small contracts with community based organizations to provide sexual assault primary prevention programs in their communities. In addition, VIPP established the first statewide crisis resource hotline in the Intermountain West, known as the Sexual Violence Statewide Crisis and Information Line (1-888-421-1100).

Data in Figure 28 show the number of calls to the Sexual Violence Statewide Crisis and Information Line from 2003 to 2008.

Utah Commission of Criminal and Juvenile Justice

The Commission on Criminal and Juvenile Justice (CCJJ) was created to promote broad philosophical agreement concerning the objectives of the criminal and juvenile justice system; provide a mechanism for coordinating the functions of various branches and levels of government concerned with criminal and juvenile justice; and coordinate statewide efforts to reduce crime and victimization in Utah.

Rape in Utah Survey 2007

CCJJ, working with the Utah Office of Crime Victim Reparations, administered the second survey of Utah women about their experiences with sexual violence in 2007. The first survey was conducted in 2005. Both surveys have yielded valuable information about the extent to which sexual violence occurs in our state, the impact it has upon victims, and the effectiveness of services given to those who have been victimized.

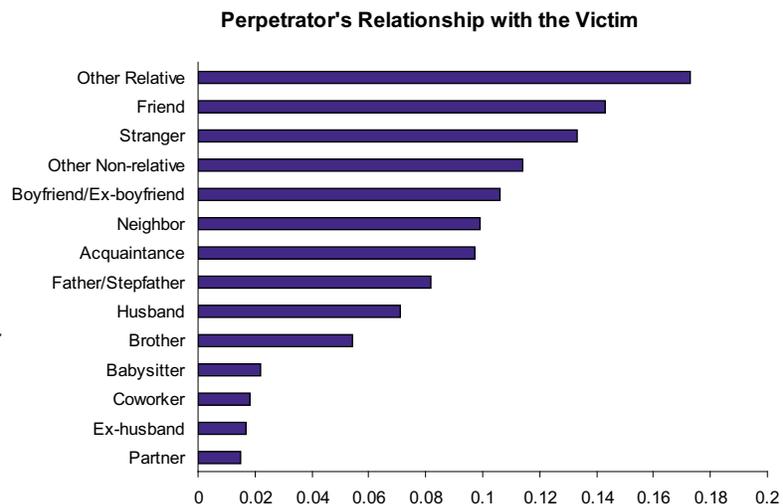

Lifetime Experience with Sexual Assault
	2005	2007
Rape	12.7%	12.8%
Child Molestation	14.4%	12.8%
Indecent Liberties	9.3%	11.6%
Attempted Rape	8.9%	8.0%
Object Rape	7.5%	7.9%
Forced Oral Sex	5.3%	5.5%
Unable to Consent	4.7%	4.5%
Child Intercourse	5.8%	4.3%
Forced Anal Sex	1.7%	2.3%
Drug Facilitated Rape	1.8%	2.3%

Nearly 1 in 3 women report experiencing some type of sexual assault during their lifetimes.

Almost a third (28.9%) of the women surveyed reported some type of sexual assault during their lifetimes, which is similar to the 31.7% found in the 2005 survey. When the definition of rape was expanded to include object rape, oral rape, and anal rape, the rate increased to 17.3%, more than one in six of the respondents.

Most sexual assaults were committed by male perpetrators who were known to the victims.

An unspecified relative was the most common type of perpetrator at 17.3%, followed by a friend (14.3%). Overall, 30.9% of the incidents involved an assault by a family member, excluding husbands, such as a father or stepfather (8.2%), brother (5.4%), or other relative (17.3%). Intimate partners, such as husbands, boyfriends, and ex-husbands were the attackers in 20.8% of the assaults described by the respondents. Only 11.8% of victims reported the assault to the police, with higher reporting rates for rape, indecent liberties, or child intercourse. Over three-fourths of those who had been victimized reported that their first sexual assault occurred before their 18th birthday.

The full report can be found at www.justice.utah.gov/Research/

Utah Coalition Against Sexual Assault

The Utah Coalition Against Sexual Assault (UCASA) serves as an advocacy organization for programs and individuals that are engaged in sexual violence prevention and response in Utah. UCASA provides resources, training and technical support and facilitates the development of multi-disciplinary teams to respond to sexual violence throughout the state. Agencies and individuals served by UCASA include victim advocates, law enforcement, prosecutors, medical professionals, educators, clergy, therapists, rape crisis programs, domestic violence shelters, and university or college campus programs.

Confidential Communications

The Confidential Communications for Sexual Assault Act was established under the Utah Rights of Crime Victims Act with the purpose of promoting “the mental, physical and emotional recovery of victims of sexual assault and to protect the information given by victims to sexual assault counselors from being disclosed.”

Only certified sexual assault counselors working at a recognized rape crisis center can guarantee confidentiality, within mandate, through compliance with the Confidential Communications for Sexual Assault Act in Utah (Utah Criminal Code Section 77-38-201:204).

Rape Crisis Advocacy Training

UCASA’s 40-hour Rape Crisis Advocacy Training provides the required certification for sexual assault counselors and victim advocates to be covered under Utah Confidential Communications Act. This training is also open to any professional or community member who want to increase their knowledge of the issues faced by victims of sexual violence or enhance their skills for working with victims. In 2008, 126 participants completed the basic advocacy training program, and another 104 participated in professional development and advanced training courses provided by UCASA’s training staff.

Sexual Assault Response Teams (SARTs)

A Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) is a partnership formed between public and private agencies to establish specific protocols and defined roles for a coordinated multi-disciplinary response to sexual assault. The goal of the SART is to ensure consistent, efficient, sensitive, and appropriate services that will support victims of sexual violence and increase community safety.

Currently, formalized SARTs have been established in seven Utah counties. UCASA has partnered with stakeholders in several additional communities to provide training and technical assistance in the development of new SARTs, and continues to work with existing teams to strengthen skills and facilitate increased collaboration.

Utah Domestic Violence Council

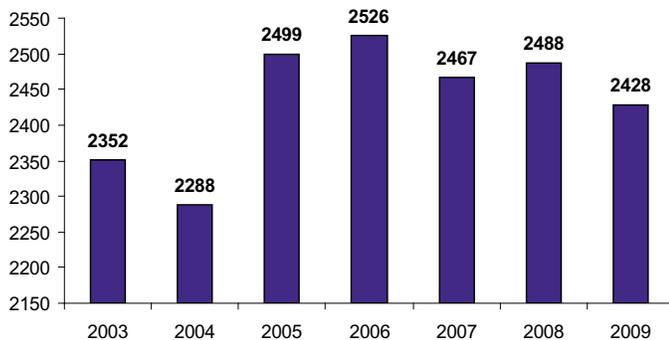

The Utah Domestic Violence Council (UDVC), a nonprofit organization incorporated in 1993, has a mission to make domestic violence intolerable in the neighborhoods and communities of Utah. UDVC provides public awareness, education, and advocacy for the community at large, and policy and training support for responders to domestic violence including domestic violence staff, domestic violence treatment providers, child welfare staff, faith leaders, legal services staff, and law enforcement officers. UDVC also sponsors meetings for domestic violence shelter directors and domestic violence treatment providers to discuss best practices and develop protocols for serving victims, survivors and their families. UDVC provides a 24 hour daily information and referral line- the Domestic Violence LinkLine (1-800-897-5465) which is answered by trained domestic violence specialists. UDVC supports the efforts of 22 Local Domestic Violence Coalitions and fosters collaboration among Utah agencies and organizations that touch upon victims and survivors lives through its four committees of Public Education, Professional Education, Government Affairs and Advocacy and Collaboration. UDVC has a strong membership of 36 people including representatives of legal services, business, health care, victim advocates, domestic violence shelter directors, Division of Child & Family Services, Commission on Criminal & Juvenile Justice, Crime Victims Reparations, and the Utah Prosecution Council. An 11 member Board of Directors oversees the strategic plan and budget. UDVC has a staff of 7 full-time professionals, 4 contracted personnel and 5 volunteers. The most recent new effort focuses on economic justice and empowerment to assist victims and their families in retaining and obtaining resources to move on with their lives in safety. UDVC is committed to cultural competency in response to domestic violence and in engaging leadership in its mission.

UDVC Linkline

Figure 6 shows that the number of calls received by the domestic violence crisis line 1-800-897-LINK (5465) has remained relatively constant over the last 5 years.
