This document was created pursuant to § 63M-7-405(4).

The Master Offense List has been updated and will be presented to the Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Interim Committee on May 17, 2023.

It is intended to contain all offenses in existence in the Utah State Code and each offense's associated penalty. It is a reference guide for ease of use and greater transparency to assist in legislative, policy, and guideline discussions.

The Master Offense List is not a substitute for reference to the Utah State Code. It does not constitute legal advice and is not legally binding. It does not create any right or expectation on behalf of an offender.

The Shared Master Offense Table https://www.utcourts.gov/resources/offense_table.html is a more appropriate reference for elements of offenses. It remains the determinative source for filing of offenses with the Courts.

Note that beginning in the 2022 legislative session and continuing for the next several years, bills have passed that seek to recodify the criminal code. Recodification is meant to create a uniform system of statutory construction for statutes that create criminal offenses, with subsection (1) containing definitions, subsection (2) containing elements constituting the crime, subsection (3) containing punishments, and subsections (4)+ laying out affirmative defenses or other unique provisions. This has resulted in a number of technical changes throughout the master offense list, but these changes generally do not create new offenses. The Sentencing Commission also took this opportunity to clean up citations throughout the master offense list. Because the purpose of the master offense list is to reflect criminal penalties, this list will generally cite to the penalties section of each statute. Criminal charging documents, however, may refer to other subsections containing the criminal elements.
